Bombardier Challenger 300

Flexjet recently rolled out the innovative Round Trip Pricing program for owners making quick turnaround trips. The program reduces the cost of one- or two-day round trips for owners committed to at least 100 flight hours per year. The program, first of its kind in the fractional jet ownership market, comes in response to feedback from owners looking for more cost-effective, short-haul travel. In addition, Flexjet introduced the newly redesigned Walk Away Lease Program that provides many of the benefits that come with fractional ownership, but with the option to leave the program with just 90-days notice.

The Flexjet Fleet

Bombardier designs, manufactures, and operates every aircraft in the Flexjet fleet, including the Bombardier Learjet 40 XR, Learjet 45 XR, Learjet 60 XR; and long-range Bombardier Challenger 300 and Challenger 605 jets. Flexjet operates the youngest fleet in the industry, averaging less than 3.0 years of age.

Unique Program Features

Flexjet offers a number of unique features that provide greater value and flexibility for its owners. These programs include:

- Versatility Plus– Unique in the industry, this popular program enables Flexjet owners to realize value from unused hours by placing them in a pool for purchase by other owners. Since 2004, this program has returned more than $26 million back into the hands of Flexjet owners who would have otherwise lost those hours.
- Service Guarantees– Flexjet fractional owners also benefit from a unique five percent charter-limit guarantee which assures them that they will fly on the Flexjet fleet 95 percent of the time or better.
- AnyTime Options– Flexjet owners may purchase additional program benefits at any point during their contract, including upgrades and downgrades, multiple use and short-leg waivers.
