NEWS BRIEF

NEW BOMBARDIER FLEXJET WEB SITE FEATURES ENHANCED DESIGN AND CONTENT

Online visitors can easily navigate program options and take a photo tour of aircraft

DALLAS, October 24, 2005— Bombardier Flexjet, the fractional ownership program of Bombardier Aerospace, announced the launch of its new Web site (www.flexjet.com), which features an all-new graphic design and faster, easier access to information. Among the enhancements to the new Web site are clean, engaging graphics, and a menu of easy-to-navigate options for program information, including a straightforward, simple explanation of options and features unique to Flexjet. Program options highlighted on the new Flexjet Web site include generous ferry fee waivers to the Caribbean, Europe, Hawaii and other destinations, the popular Versatility Plus program allowing owners to buy and sell unused hours, and Anytime Options offering owners a range of flexible options such as upgrades, downgrades and access to multiple aircraft on the same day. In addition, the new Web site features a comprehensive online photo tour of Bombardier aircraft in the Flexjet fractional fleet – the Learjet 40 XR, Learjet 45 XR, Learjet 60, Challenger 300 and Challenger 604 – including photographs, cabin layout and performance stats for each.

Bombardier, Flexjet, Learjet, Challenger 300 and Challenger 604 are trademarks of Bombardier Inc. or its subsidiaries.
